

Best of Today's

Interior Design

Tina Skinner

Taking a cue from the hand-painted splendor of an antique hutch, this room plays with formal wallpapers and oversized country gingham in an elegant nod to the most popular color.

*Design: Debra J. Stein, ASID, Debra J. Interiors
Photography: Randall Perry*

Light Touch

A chandelier illuminates a formal seating area, enlivened by the natural light from two walls of windows.

*Design: Debra J. Stein, ASID, Debra J. Interiors
Photography: Randall Perry*

Perfectly Moulded

Decorative mouldings define and refine this space, from the coffered ceiling to the columned entryway. The wainscoting and built-in shelving are particularly useful features.

*Design: Debra J. Stein, ASID, Debra J. Interiors
Photography: Randall Perry*

A fireside soak is embellished with decorative, gilded ironwork and carved wooden mouldings on the tub surround. By day the room is soaked in sunshine, by night a chandelier casts a romantic glow in complement to the flickering fire.

*Design: Debra J. Stein, ASID, Debra J. Interiors
Photography: Randall Perry*